NEW ENGLAND BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION

The New England Board of Higher Education is pleased to issue the seventeenth edition of Facts About New England Colleges, Universities and Institutes. This directory provides general information about 260 colleges and universities in New England and a current listing of all presidents. The publication is in response to the continuous demand for succinct information relevant to higher educational opportunities in the region. While some of this material is available in other scattered sources, the Board has found that many individuals, as well as institutions, consider this compendium especially useful.

The institutions listed meet only one common criterion: each has been authorized by its state government to grant academic degrees at either the associate, bachelor, master, doctoral or professional level. Institutions in the region not meeting this criterion have not been listed.

The information presented, except for the tables and charts, were supplied through a Board survey of institutions. Persons desiring information on specific courses of study should address inquiries to the institutions.The New England Board of Higher Education continues to welcome inquiries and suggestions for both new approaches to information in higher education as well as improvements to this publication.

We trust this publication will be of continued usefulness to you and your associates.

NEW ENGLAND BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION

The New England Board of Higher Education is a regional agency authorized by Interstate Compact among the six states of New England in 1955 and ratified by the Congress of the United States. The Board's purpose is to provide greater postsecondary educational service and opportunities for citizens of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont.

Members of the Board are appointed by the Governors, the respective Legislatures of the region or by virtue of position of institutional leadership. Board members establish policies and goals for the effective and efficient utilization of higher education resources in New England. In this effort state boundaries are crossed and areas of cooperation and mutual interest are developed among public and independent universities, colleges and other institutions of higher education.

The Board initiates appropriate programs with and for the benefit of the more than 260 institutions of higher education, both public and private, in New England. The Board is further charged with a responsibility to provide factual and evaluative data of relevance to these purposes.

The Board sees the following as primary in achieving its purposes:

- To provide a facility and staff capable of continuing research and evaluation relevant to higher education in New England.
- To serve as a center for the collection and dissemination of information pertinent to the institutions and agencies concerned with higher education.
- To serve as an administrative and fiscal agent for educational contracts and agreements among the institutions and governments in New England.
- To provide consultative services on educational topics of major regional significance to the institutions, agencies and governments of New England.
- To serve as a vehicle for the regional implementation of federally and privately financed programs related to higher education.

The Board does not accredit institutions, nor does it offer degrees, operate financial support programs for students, establish new courses of study, or provide direct placement or student admissions services.

The Board provides the primary vehicle for interstate cooperation in matters related to higher education and a means for the several states to address regional public policy issues of concern to New England.

SUMMARY OF INSTITUTIONAL DATA FOR NEW ENGLAND

The charts on the following pages summarize the numerical data reported in this publication for each degree-granting higher education institution in New England.

Figures 1 and 2 illustrate the ranges of tuition and fees and of room and board costs for each state's public and private institutions, and the median (midpoint) charge for each, for academic year 1978-79.

Table 1 lists the numbers of degree-granting institutions by state and type. Tables 2 through 5 provide aggregate enrollment data by type of institution for each state for Fall, 1977.

Figures 3 and 4 depict the distributions of public and private enrollment among the six New England states for Fall, 1977.

OTHER COLLEGE DIRECTORIES

The following list is by no means exhaustive; a public or academic librarian can be consulted to identify additional resources. College catalogs obtained from the Admissions Office of a specific institution will provide the most comprehensive information.

- Deener, David R., et al., eds. Graduate Programs and Admissions Manual 1977-1979. 6th ed., Princeton: Educational Testing Service, 1977.
  This directory is divided into four volumes each of which is dedicated to a broadly defined field: tabular summaries detail enrollment, degrees awarded, fees and admissions requirements.
- Drake, Sandra L., ed. 1978 Community, Junior, and Technical College Directory. Washington: American Association of Community and Junior Colleges, 1978.
  The major portion of this 72 page work is an alphabetical list of community, junior and technical colleges on a state-by-state basis. Tables provide information on accreditation, enrollment, professional staff, fees, etc.
- Harris, Sherry S., ed. Accredited Institutions of Postsecondary Education. Washington: American Council on Education, 1978.
  Annually, the ACE offers information on institutions accredited as of the publication date of this work; included are colleges and universities as well as technical and professional schools. Within the institutions description there is an enumeration of those professional programs that have attained specilized accreditation.
- Podolstoy, Arthur and Carolyn R. Smith. Education Directory, Colleges and Universities 1977-78. Washington: U.S. Government Printing Office, 1978.
  Data presented for institutions in this directory includes names and titles of principal officers, control or affiliation, highest level of offering, source of accreditation, and type of program.
- Watts, Susan F., ed. The College Handbook. 16th ed., New York: College Entrance Examination Board, 1977.
  The College Handbook is a source which gives a fairly detailed narrative on curriculum, admissions, student life, fees and financial aid of more than 2,000 institutions. A companion volume is The College Handbook Index of Majors.
- Information regarding financial assistance in the six New England states may be obtained form the Student Financial Assistance Office, USOE Region 1, JFK Federal Building, Boston, MA 02203.

NEW ENGLAND REGIONAL STUDENT PROGRAM

Undergraduate and Graduate Opportunities at Public Universities, Colleges, and Two-Year Colleges and Institutes for Residents of New England, 1979-80.

New England residents have the opportunity to enroll as regional students at out-of-state public universities, colleges and two-year institutions in New England at reduced tuition rates and, in most cases, with preferential admission status. The New England Regional Student Program, which has provided this opportunity since 1958, increases a student's choice of study programs and reduces duplication of teaching facilities and personnel among the region's public institutions of higher education. Under the Regional Student Program, qualified out-of-state New England residents may enroll in certain undergraduate and graduate level programs at 83 participating public institutions.

REGIONAL STUDENT HEALTH PROFESSIONS CONTRACT PROGRAM

Responsive to its mandate to expand educational opportunities for New England residents, the New England Board of Higher Education administers contracts which reserve spaces for residents of New England in institutions offering professional education in several health professions.

The Regional Student Health Professions Contract Program, begun originally to provide access to medical schools for residents of those states not having a public medical school, now includes such other health professions as optometry, veterinary medicine, physical therapy, and occupational therapy. Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont now participate in this Program, although contracts in all those health professions are not available to the residents of every state.

Participants in NEBHE's Regional Student Health Professions Contract Program are selected by the training institution and are certified as residents by NEBHE. In some divisions of the Program, the participant is required to reimburse the state for any monies expended to reserve the space; in most cases, however, such repayment obligation is forgiven if the participant returns to practice in the state of residence following graduation.

Because the opportunities under the Regional Student Health Professions Contract Program change from year to year, a New England resident interested in the health professions should write directly to NEBHE to determine which contracts are available for the upcoming academic year. Application for admission is made directly to the contract institution.

VACANCY SURVEY

For twenty-one consecutive years, the New England Board of Higher education has successfully polled its clients, the colleges and universities of New England in order to ascertain the number of freshman vacancies for the forthcoming fall semester. This publication is released each spring and a follow-up effort is completed in early July. Both surveys detail vacancies on a state-by-state basis.

That the Vacancy Survey has become more meaningful and useful with each passing year is due in large measure to the excellent cooperation received from the individual institutions. This product remains one of the few that continues to benefit from a 100% response from its pollees.

The document itself and the accompanying news release receive wide media distribution and result in significant radio, television and newspaper coverage (over 100 articles in 1977/78). The publicity thus generated assists the public in being made aware of any still remaining vacancies furthering the goal of equal educational opportunity. At the same time, the academic institutions are therefore themselves also the beneficiaries of the Board's work.

NOTES ON THE IN

The New England institutions listed on the previous pages have been authorized by their state governments to grant academic degrees at the associate, baccalaureate, master's, doctoral or professional level. Institutions in the region which do not meet this criterion have not been listed.

The data presented were supplied by the institutions; NEBHE does not assume responsibility for the validity of the data. Enrollment figures are listed as reported by the institutions in their HEGIS questionnaires for 1977. Inquiries about specific courses of study should be addressed to the institutions concerned.

This booklet may be obtained from the New England Board of Higher Education, 40 Grove Street, Wellesley, Massachusetts 02181. Copies are $2.00 each.

These notations appear in the listing on the following pages.

STUDENT BODY

The designation for the student body of each institution is shown as—men; men only; women: women only; coeducational: both men and women; coordinate: men and women enrolled in separate colleges or divisions.

ACCREDITATION

Accreditation consists of voluntary self-evaluation by an institution and appraisal by a group of its peers. This process operates through nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations which have established criteria for the evaluation of institutions in terms of their own objectives and to ascertain whether programs of educational quality are being maintained.

Colleges, universities and institutes in New England may be accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC). Such regional accreditation applies to the entire institution and indicates that each constituent unit is achieving its own particular aims satisfactorily, although not necessarily all at uniform levels of quality.

The following abbreviations are used in this booklet to signify the various stages of accreditation by NEASC.

NE Institution is accredited by NEASC

NE Cand Institution is recognized by NEASC as a Candidate for Accreditation. This indicates that an institution is progressing steadily and properly toward accreditation.

In addition to regional accreditation of the institution, certain professional and specialized schools and programs in New England may be accredited by the following national associations. The numbers listed are those used throughout this booklet to represent such accreditation by the appropriate organization.

ENROLLMENT, FALL 1977

Total enrollment includes all students, both degree and non-degree. Non-degree figures indicate students who are not candidates for a degree or other formal award, but do not include students in adult or continuing education division courses. Other figures include students enrolled for degree credit. Data were derived from the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) where available, or were reported to NEBHE by the institutions.
